Vision

The national leader for trail integration in the urban environment

San Jose seeks to be national leader by focusing in 6 core areas: Innovation, Data Driven, Quality, Access, Partnering, and Pace of Development.

YVES

- San Jose develops award-winning projects:
- The Federal Government, national advocacy organizations and State officials have all recognized San Jose.
- Introduce our topic – we want to explain how to secure support, funding and sustain momentum as you develop trails.

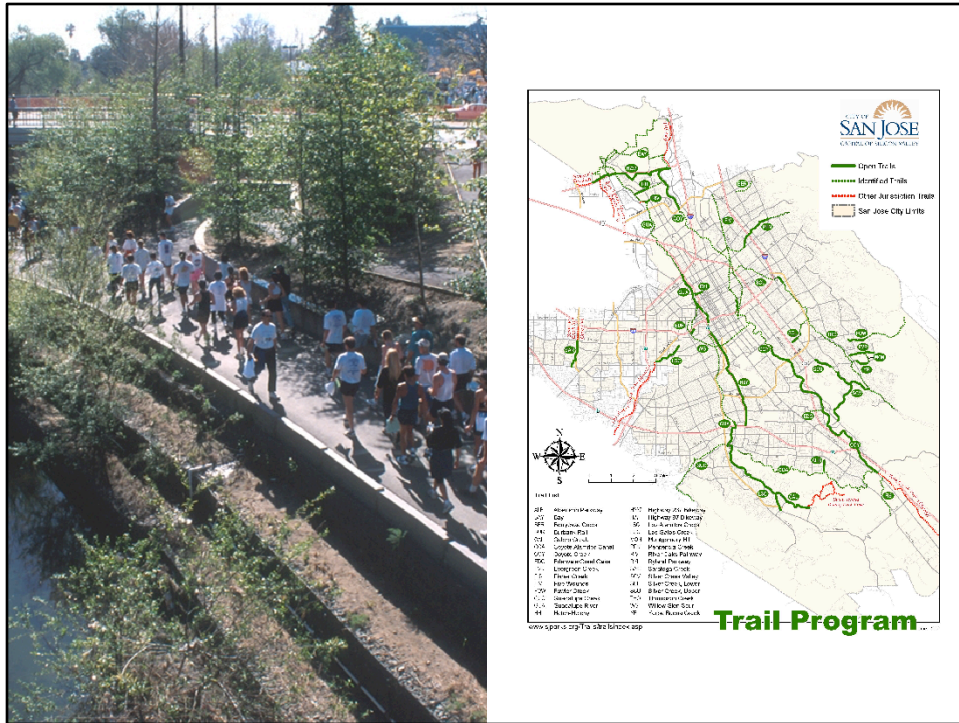

San Jose is a great park city – with park space dating back to its founding (1777), a 150-acre park along Downtown, access to open space and Ridge Trail, and California’s oldest Civic Park (Alum Rock Park).

We view trails as park facilities.

100-mile interconnected network is our Green Vision Goal – by 2022. We have 57 miles developed to date.

Innovation: New signage, milestone markers

Data Driven: Trail Count supported funding

Quality: Decorative gateways, plaza

Access: Under-crossings, at-street entries

Partnering: SCVWD, Army, State, SFPUC

Pace: 6.7 miles contribute to 100-mile network by 2022

A mammoth sculpture is being installed near Trimble Avenue to commemorate discovery of mammoth fossils several years ago.
